About us

We are a digital magazine that focuses on highlighting those who are coming into their own lane. We follow fashion, entrepreneurship, and health. BYT Magazine is based in Hampton, Virginia. We also follow community news within the D.C., Maryland and Virginia areas.

While creating the third issue, we focused on all forms of art. From the beauty of poetry to the fluidity of words in rap music, this issue was designed to take readers on the journeys of artists and creators making a mark in their communities.

Note from the Editor

Art has no boundaries or limitations. It can be either a design, sheet of music, painting, piece of writing, body, or even a mural. Its representation in every community is different. This opens the door for artists to showcase their talents through their perspective. Throughout this issue, you will see art in many forms. The stories of those you will come across will add a new definition to what may define art.

Angel Lorine

Writer, Poet and Author

Inspired by her family, life experiences, and dealing with the loss, Angelica Lorine Owens, also known as Angel Lorine, found herself intertwined with her passion for poetry.

At a young age, Lorine knew she wanted to take the journey toward becoming a writer.

She studied at the Historically Black University, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University where she obtained her Bachelor of Science in Journalism.

In 2016, she published her first poetry book, "The Unspoken Truth."

“Majority of my poems are stuff that I relate to and stuff that I have experienced in my life,”

– Angel Lorine

Eight years later, she released her second poetry book, "The Masks of Emotions." The book is composed of poems that plunge into the stages of grief.

In 2024, she graduated with a master's degree in English and Creative Writing from Southern New Hampshire University.

Currently, Lorine is working on her third book.
